

MEDIA RELEASE | 4 April 2024

Community Nominations Open: Council Advisory and Working Groups

Play a role in local decision making by nominating for one of Council's Advisory or Working Groups.

The City of Victor Harbor is seeking nominations for community representatives to serve on the following Advisory and Working Groups:

- Agribusiness Working Group
- Arts and Culture Advisory Group
- Heritage Advisory Group
- Boating and Marine Facilities Advisory Group

Advisory and Working Groups play an important role in ensuring broader community involvement in local decision making. They are made up of a combination of Council Members, Council staff and community representatives.

The groups meet on a regular basis, as determined in their Terms of Reference.

City of Victor Harbor Mayor, Dr Moira Jenkins, said being a community representative is a great way to serve the community and help shape Victor Harbor's future.

"Council Members often rely on the advice and insights provided by our Advisory and Working Groups when making decisions," said Mayor Jenkins.

"As a community representative on an Advisory or Working Group, you'll need to attend regular meetings and discuss topical matters with your fellow group members. You can visit Council's website and read previous meeting agendas to get a feel for what topics and issues have been considered in the past."

"If you have a keen interest or experience in agribusiness, arts and culture, heritage, or marine facilities, I really encourage you to nominate."

To nominate to be a member of these groups, please download nomination forms at victor.sa.gov.au/groupnominations or drop into the Civic Centre (1 Bay Road, Victor Harbor).

To find out more about what is involved in being a community representative on one of Council's groups, please email localgov@victor.sa.gov.au or call 8551 0500.