- b. The CADDY initiative: The trial CADDY Project, supported by funding from Office for the Ageing via the Age Friendly SA grants, is nearing completion with evaluation interviews currently underway. This initiative seeks to empower people living with memory loss and/or early stage dementia to feel valued, maintain independence and stay connected with the community. Project partners, Caring Neighbourhood Program and Community Connect Program, have implemented the project during 2018 with some encouraging outcomes and key learnings arising. A follow-up workshop for volunteer caddies to review enabling strategies for wellness and reablement, was facilitated by Dana from the Better Practice Project on 13 November, 9 people participated in the workshop including caddies and other individual social support volunteers. Feedback from the workshop was extremely positive with all participants stating they gained many learnings/insights from the session and the interactive discussions. A second promotional article about the project is being published in the December edition of WeekendPlus digital magazine for seniors. The final evaluation report is expected to be completed by end of February 2019. For general enquiries about the CADDY project please contact mfuller@victor.sa.gov.au or phone 8551 0571.

 - o overview of continuous improvement activities supporting My Aged Care operations
 - o update on the development of the new My Aged Care website and enhanced service finder functionality.

The link to the webinar can be accessed via the department's webinars page.

- New requirements for home care information for the service finder: The department has updated the guidance materials with new requirements for approved providers of home care when entering information into the My Aged Care website home care service finder. To comply with the new requirements, your organisation and outlet administrators may need to make changes to your outlets and associated services in the My Aged Care provider portal. More information is available in the Managing your home care service information factsheet.

- Reminder: Mandatory publication of home care pricing information by 30 November 2018: Home care providers must have published their existing pricing information on the My Aged Care Service Finder by 30 November 2018. This requirement was formalised in legislation in August 2018. From 30 November, providers will not be able to add, or edit existing service information on the My Aged Care provider portal unless pricing information has been added. Providers need to publish their home care pricing information by either:

Providers are able to apply this pricing information to either their home care outlet or an individual service item. A quick reference guide is available on the department's website.

Early next year, providers will need to publish their home care pricing information using a new standardised pricing schedule on the My Aged Care Service Finder. More information on this change will be provided in the near future.

Forgotten Australians presentation by Josephine Littlehawk – 11 December 2018:

Josephine Littlehawk will be attending our Positive Ageing Taskforce Network Meeting on 11 December to share about her lived experience in institutional care as a child and the subsequent life impacts. Many Forgotten Australians are concerned about being re-institutionalised as they age leaving them more vulnerable to re-traumatisation through practices that are not trauma informed. We invite you to come along and hear Josephine's story. Kelly Francou from Relationships Australia (Elm Place) will be attending our February network meeting to present about the important work being undertaken to support Forgotten Australians. Elm Place provides state wide services for people who have experienced institutional and Out-of-Home care.
